BRIEF MENTION.

THE NEXT arrival will doubtless bring important news from the war.

A Good CROP.-The crop of the Kohala Pintation, now more than two thirds off, is estimated at 1600 tons. Avena is the pretty name of a delicious preparation of hulled oats, sent us by Friel & Bush, grocers, and which, with milk at breakfast excels anything of the sort yet seen. BALAAM'S KIND .- By the D. C. Murray from San Francisco, arrived two fine Kentucky jacks, said to have cost $1400, imported for breeding purposes. Mules will soon supersede oxen as draft animals on all our plantations. Molokal.-Capt. Fountain left at our office some specimen stalks of cane from the plantation of Mr. McColgan, which were eleven months old . and measured 10 to 12 feet in length. We are on Molokai are quite flattering. of water at Haiku, East Maui, we learn that the expect a first crop of at least 1600 tons from the proposed new plantation. A VALUABLE PURCHASE .- During the past week Messrs. E. P. Adams and J. Ross effected the purchase of 3000 acres of fine cane land at Kilaues, Kauai, part of the estate of Charles Titcomb, Esq. The day following the purchase the sum of $20,000 was offered for the bargain and refused. We learn that the enterprising proprietors will inaugurate the new plantation without delay.

DEPARTURE DELAYED .- The Chinaman reported by the Gazette as having "spiritually" taken his departure for the Flowery Land by cutting his throat with an axe is still here. Apparently through inexperience in the business he only cut himself skin deep. But he is really a leper and will be sent to Molokai, where he may perhaps be more successful in endeavoring to shuffle off the mortal coil.

ONE OF our resident clergymen, Rev. Mr. Mackintosh, of the Episcopalian church, baving obtained three months leave of absence from the Lord Bishop, is gone, with his helpmeet, on a visit to Vancouver's Island and British Columbia. Possibly, the Rev. gentleman may make some notes of his travels, which would be likely to prove very interesting to the public of Hawaii nei.

RAIN ON MAUI .- An East Maui letter of the 4th says :- "It commenced raining yesterday afternoon, and continued raining and pouring until nearly daylight this morning. I believe it is customary for it to rain on the 4th of July, and if I did not think some old centennial parchment would consider it personal I would say it was a reign that created the 4th of July, and made it what it is- 'The day we celebrate.'" AMUSEMENTS .- The circus on Saturday last attracted as usual a full audience. To-night the whole company will appear in some of their most astonishing acts, such as for the first time here the double summersault, and acrobats of the first class, by Aymar and Mendoza. In fact the performance promise to be a very interesting one.

AT THE Royal Hawaiian Theatre, the "Anglo-American Constellation" continues to delight the audiences. Harry and Lizzie Braham are always producing some new and beautiful songs and character impersonations, and the "Buffalo Boys"who by the way are shortly to leave—move the risibilities of every body, with Irish, Dutch and Negro extravaganzas. An excellent bill to-night.

THE STORY of the strong man Samson taking the honey-comb out of the dead lion's mouth, and afterward with reference to it, to the Philistines his famous riddle "Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the strong came forth sweetness"has been recalled to us by a recent discovery of a bee's nest in a place where it might be thought as little likely to be found as in a dead lion's mouth. In making some repairs in the interior of the church of Kawaiahao a day or two ago, it was discovered that a swarm of bees had made their nest under the gallery of the church, where they had penetrated through chinks in the boarding of the ceiling. A honey-comb, containing quite a large quantity of the mellifluous liquor, was shown to the Editor of this journal by the Rev. Mr. Parker, the Pastor of the church. Whether Queen Bee, and her busy workers, were attracted to make their nest in Kawaiahao church by the honied words of the eloquent preacher, and those oice flowers of oratory which is inspired lips in the beautiful language of Hawaii nei at the church services, is a matter best known to Her Mellifluous Majesty and her suite. In some countries there is a popular notion that the finding of a bee's nest prognosticates an increase to the family of the finder.

A SUBMARINE EXCURSION .- One day during the past week we had a novel experience, having descended about four fathoms through "the salt sea waves" to near the bottom of Honolulu harbor, and after remaining there some moments. arrived again at the surface all right and none the worse for the excursion. No, we did'nt fall overboard; we simply went down by ladder into the huge box attached by Tibbitts and Sorenson, shipwrights, to the stern of the ship Fleetford, for the purpose of repairing her keel and sternpost, injured by touching on the reef at one of the guano islands. The box is a "big thing," most substantially built, and in plan and application displays no small degree of mechanical skill and feet from the surface of the water we placed our hand under the keel of the huge ship, while the carpenters were doing their work as well and securely as though she were in a dry dock. But for the ingenious contrivance of the box it would be necessary in order to properly repair this ship, to discharge her cargo and heave her out, involving much expense and delay. As it is she will be ready during the coming week to proceed on her voyage.

| Placidly as it that element had always been her surroundings. After performing such opportune ship and perhaps take a trip up North.

Now since this sort of thing brings a tolerable revenue, I would like to ask most respectfully what part the government plays, besides taking spread, and the night trip on the bay having the money, and whother plain matter of fact directions ought not to be furnished to those judges who do not pretend to be lawyers, so that at least they may not be stumbling blocks in an age like present. HONOLULU. her voyage.

THE NEW CEMETERY .- The ancient burial place at Kawaiahao having become over-populated with the silent tenants of the tomb, by direction of the Minister of the Interior a new cemetery has recently been laid out on the S. E. slope of Punchbowl. The ground, which has been enclosed by a neat whitewashed paling fence, has sufficient slope to carry off the rains, is some seven acres in ex-tent, and the situation affords a beautiful view of the plains, Waikiki and the ocean beyond. The custody of the cemetery is in the hands of Capt. J. H. Brown, Agent of the Board of Health, and no burial can take place there without the production of a regulation certificate from the agent, each grave being numbered and a register of full particulars kept of each interment. A fine growth of manienie grass already covers the ground within the enclosure, and it is the intention shortly to set out lines of ornamental trees along the avenues.

CONTINUATION OF KING STREET .- A petition, extensively signed by tax-payers of this district, was recently presented to the Minister of the Interior, asking that King-Street be continued out to Kapiolani Park. Accordingly a jury of six was selected, who on the 9th instant made a written report to the Minister, in which they give it as their opinion that the proposed new road is not advisable, on the ground of expense, and recommending that instead thereof, Beretania Street be continued out in the direction of the telegraph station and so on makai to the Park. We do not learn that the jury gave any data on which they based their opinion of the expense of the proposed road against which they report; but we have heard from parties professing to be acquainted with the Beretania Street route, that the expense of making a decent carriage road in that direction would be large. We suggest that the question might be advantageously discussed in Corrections.

MR. EDITOR: The Gazette of this week, speaking of the celebration of the 4th in Honolulu says: At noon a national salute of twenty-one guns was fired from Punchbowl Battery." The salute was not fired from Punchbowl, but from a park of artillery at the head of Emma street. Again: "At 4.30 p. m. Mr. Berger gave a concert at Emma Square," &c. Mr. Berger and his band were employed to play in honor of the day, and paid out of a fund subscribed for the occasion by American citizens, from which fund also was defrayed the cost of firing the salute at noon. Yours, &c.,

To the Editor of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser: Sin: I beg leave through your columns to make a suggestion respecting the customary Saturday glad to learn that the prospects of cane growers afternoon concert of the band, namely, that instead of the hour of half-past four, they play at about 6 o'clock. It would be a great pleasure to many of A RESULT .- Following the successful introduction us mechanics to hear Berger and his well-trained hands-men, sitting with our families in the pleasant shade of Emma Place, but it is obvious that, proprietors have ordered the construction of a new | leaving off work at four o'clock, we cannot close up sugar mill at the Honolulu Iron Works, of quite as | at the shop, get home and make ourselves tidy and large a capacity as any now on these islands. They comfortably get to the square in season. I think, too, that the change above proposed would meet with favor from the people who dine between four and five, and who find it too early for dinner before the concert and too late after it. Besides, would it not be pleasanter for every one to hear music when the sun is lower and the coolness of evening comes in, say at an hour to close just before dark? Honolulu, July 9th.

> MAKAWAO, July 7th, 1877. To the Editor of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser: DEAR SIR :- In your issue of the 23d ult., I think injustice is done to both mill-owners and producers of cane in your remarks on the "Co-operative system," in regard to weighing the cane as it comes to the mill, and thus " relieve the cane grower from all unpleasant suspicion of being cheated.

> Now, Dear Sir, I am a cane grower on a small scale, and I believe the only one in this district, and it has been hinted that I was the originator of the above idea, which (while I am glad to see anything in regard to the cultivation of cane freely discussed in the public journals) is the reason for my criticizing those remarks.

I contend that the simple use of the word "cheat-ed" or "suspicion of being cheated" is calculated to destroy confidence between the grower and mill-If a party thinks he will not be fairly dealt with e had better "take his pigs to another market."

Your plan would no doubt be the only proper one, in the case of many persons living near a mill, and planting a few hills of cane that they wished to dispose of for cash, or exchange for sugar-but a person having one or two hundred acres of cane to grind would be very apt to have his " suspicions " aroused if he knew every load of his crop had to be driven on the scales and weighed, and the weight of the cart deducted from it. As it is now, the only parties interested are the mill-owner, the cane grower and the sugar boiler.

The cane is cut and taken to the mill under th supervision of the grower (and perhaps the owner), to see that it is properly and economically done, and that is the last that either of those parties see of it until it is manufactured into sugar, packed in containers and weighed by the sugar boiler. It is the sugar boiler's interest, for his own reputation, to produce all the sugar he can from the juice; but it is neither his or his employer's interest to mark 100 lbs on a keg that contains 150 lbs of sugar, for the cane grower will perhaps never touch one pound of it, but merely settle his interest with the mill-owner by the sugar boiler's figures. In conclusion, I beg to rise and explain that the weighing system is not to the interest of the

[The remark of our correspondent that "Your (our) plan would no doubt be the only proper one in the case of many persons living near a mill and planting a few hills of cane, that they wish to dispose of for cash or exchange for sugar "-covers all we have to say on the subject, and all we intended to convey .- Ep. DEVELOPMENT of the resources of the Islands being at present the watchword, the undersigned, in the belief that the best part in development of the resources of the islands is the development of the soil, offers to any sugar planter who will make applications for it, his gold medal one horse sub-soil plough, imported from New York, free of charge except transportation, on the following condition, to wit : "The recipient agrees to plant one acre land, correctly measured, in sugar cane, such acre having been previously cultivated with the subsoil plough alongside another acre of ground cultivated as usual. At 8 o'clock last night the steam-tug Millon Griffith, belonging to the Pacific Mall Steamship Company (with Henry B. Williams, Esq. Messrs. Taylor, Reed and others from the office of the Mail Company, besides a number of invited guests, including ladies,) left the wharf of the Company to "assist" at the launch of the steamer just built by the Risdon Iron Works for the Hawallan Government. Arriving at the scene of the launch at 8:15 p. m., the carpenters were found to be busy wedging up and splitting out the blocks launch at 8:15 p. m., the carpenters were found to be busy wedging up and splitting out the blocks upon which the beautiful vessel rested. The moon being obscured by clouds, we could not see the first movements very distinctly, but it was light enough at 8:40 p. m. to see her sliding gracefully from the ways, though there was not sufficient water to float ber and she struck in the mun after reaching her length. The Milton Griffith being hailed from the steamer, was requested to give them a hawser and the directors of the eventsion. them a hawser, and the directors of the excursion, recognizing that the pleasure of the party would displays no small degree of mechanical skill and ingenuity. The ship is more than half loaded, and the strain on the box to lift ber stern some two feet must be tremendous. THE MAUI DITCH.

Our Makawao friends are justly proud their new irrigation works, the completion of which, celebrated quite appropriately on the 4th inst. marks a new era in Island agriculture. For with the assured success of the "big ditch " on Maui, we may confidently expect in the near future the commencement of similar enterprises in various parts of the Islands, whereby the wealth of water now running to waste shall be made to largely contribute to the national prosperity. The writer of this paragraph may perhaps be pardoned for remembering at this time, that in years past and particularly in 1872, he strongly urged in these columns the plan of bringing the waters of East Maul on to the Makawao side, at a time too when high officials of the government estimated the cost at an enormous sum, and people generally looked upon the idea as quite utopian. But we hope and expect to see, within a few years, the completion of irrigation works on a large scale on all the islands of this group. The construction of such works by government aid would be a species of public improvement the wisdom of which would require no defense. A correspondent at Makawao, writing on the 4th inst. says:

"The great display of the day was at Haiku, where several hundred Natives and Foreigners assembled to celebrate the completion of the BIG DITCH, and to see for themselves, the water from the mountain gushing through great iron pipes, emptying itself into the ditch, and rolling on to the valley, and spreading over the cane fields, making the earth glad with its presence. The motto, "GRASS GROWS AND WATER RUNS," WAS painted on canvas stretched across the principal avenue; flags were flying apparently from every bush,—the Wailuku brass band was in attendance and discoursed screech music. Too much credit cannot be bestowed on Messrs. Alexander and Baldwin for their perseverance and energy in completing so great and valuable an enterprise."

defendant-three dissenting. Motion for nev Kaalaca Plantation vs. M. Bolabola and 12 others. Desertion of bound service. Appeal by defendants from the decision of Mr Justice McCully sitting as a Court of Oahu. The Court affirmed the udgment of the lower Court, and on the question as to whether the contracts were in proper form, the Court said, it had been decided that there was no law that made it necessary to deliver a copy to the servant. By the stemp act of 1876 it would seem to be implied that two contracts were intended, but these contracts were made before that law was passed. The law of 1868 made it obligatory that the contracts should be in both the native and English languages, and these contracts were so made out, and one contract being executed legally was sufficient. These men had signed the contract as they had admitted. Now if their employers should with-hold their pay for a year, how would they like that? would they not say the foreigner had cheated them? The obligation of the planter to pay under the contract is not stronger than is theirs to work. If they are misused in any way, the Supreme Court would never turn a deaf ear to their complaints; but after baving worked a year, they come here and say that they ought not to work because their contracts were only signed in one place! The Court cannot listen to such appeals. These men know they had signed the contract in both languages, and they must go back to their employment. Mr. Unauua for appellants. Mr. C. Brown contra.

MR. Enron: Doubtless you did not design, in your last issue, to misrepresent the remarks made at a recent temperance meeting. And yet no misrepresentation could be much greater. There was no " denouncing the drunkard and threatening him with the wrath of God" by any of the speakers. There was no "anathema pronounced on those who make a moderate use of intoxicating drinks." There was not the remotest intimation of an allusion to the "cutting them off from salvation in consequence." There was no allusion whatever, even remotely made to any "judgement of eternal doom" on any class of persons, much less on those who "conscientionaly believe, that they may partake of wine and other intoxicating drinks." There was no "with-holding the hope of salvation from such christians." Nor was it even implied that the babitual wine drinker could not be a christian" I certainly have never known a person who entertained any such views. To me they would be shocking, How then did you make your mistake? What was said, and what I presume you had in mind was simply this. That to the speaker per-who indulges in the social habit of wine drinking was not acting in that self denying love to others, which Christ in all his tile exhibited. He was doing that which he could not do without reasoning selfishly. He was doing a wrong and un-worthy thing in view of present light. He was not standing up in his truest manhood, and in these senses he was doing an unchristian thing. If, Mr. Editor, to do an unchristian thing "dooms" a man or makes him not a christian, then we all are doomed and none of us are christians. We all do sin, all do unchristian things, and need forgiveness. Social wine drinking as it seems to me in view of the many who fall in consequence of it. and in view of all that follows from it is harmful. and is unchristian both in spirit and influence The matter of salvation I always leave with God believe that very many who do what in my adgement are wrong and unchristian things will be saved. But no enlightened christian should persevere in a practice from which harm and sorrows come to humanity. Hoping that you will make this correction not for my sake but for the sake of the cause. I am yours truly,

[It will perhaps be a balm to the troubled consciences of some of the Reverend gentleman's congregation and others, who drink "a glass in moderation," to read his own explanation that he did not intend to consign them to eternal doom in consequence, whatever he may have said upon the subject of total abstinence. Our remarks were called forth by expressions of dissatisfaction purport of the Reverend gentleman's discourse, and it must be satisfactory to him to have had an opportunity of removing those mistaken improssions from the alarmed consiences of some of his bearers. BOOKS, BOOKS, BOOKS!!

THE UNDERSIGNED HAVING BEEN sppointed Agents for the Hawaiian Islands for Appleton's American Cyclopædia, Takes pleasure in calling the attention of the public to this great enterprise, which brings a library into every man's household. The American Cyclopædis is the grandest work ever published in America; it is the knowledge of the centuries boiled down, the essence of all books crystallized. It stands on your shelves ready to answer every conceivable question, and gives in brief paragraphs the results of other men's years of toilsome investigation. and gives in brief paragraphs the results of other men's years of toilsome investigation.

In this age no one has time to grope among the thousand and one different works for every fast required, even if the volumes stand on his shelves; while with a Cyclopædia, the matter in question is found at ongt, digested, condensed, stripped of all that is irrelevant, and verified by a comparison of the best authorities. Moreover, this compilation has been performed by special writers, who are the highest authorities upon the subjects with which they deal; so that this work is the epitome and ultimatum of all knowledge, and precludes the necessity of having other books. You are probably spending dollar after dollar for books which are only of limited scope, whereas the same money expeaded in the same small amounts for the American Cyclopædia, will purchase a library complete.

It is not obligatory to take all the volumes now published upon the first delivery; a volume may be delivered once a month, or once in two months, at the option of the subscriber, and can be had in Library Leather, half Morocco or Russia bindings, ranging in price from $6.60 to $11.00 per volume. We would also call attention to Bancroft's Native Races of the Pacific States,

No Library is complete without the above standard THRUM & OAT.

Acknowledged to be the grandest work of research America has ever produced, complete in five volumes, and will be served to subscribers at $6.00 per volume in sheep.
